Developed full WordPress site based on client design mockups.
Web Based Prediction of Target Disease on Distributed Data Using A Privacy-Preserving Federated Learning Approach	2023
Develop the problem statement, design the solution and implement the solution using machine learning and web technology. I have combined Machine learning with Django to train CNN models and implement federated learning. I have got a fellowship for this project
Website to analyze abortion statistics	2021
I have used HTML, CSS, JavaScript and PHP to analyze and show the statistics of the abortion. I have collected data from a medical college hospital and used that to build the statistics. The system is able to analyze the result division, district, and also area-wise. There is an option to search for the nearest healthcare by selecting the area.
